The two-day event is part of a series organised by First Partnership on behalf of Hampshire Schools as an introduction to Science & Industry.

In a series of 30-minute sessions over 300 pupils were given an exercise called "Where's the Chair?"

Using plastic tubes & connectors the children had to construct a chair, working as a team.

As there were several different schools in attendance each group was split into sub-groups with the school children mixed together. The children were very enthusiastic &, once led in the right direction, all of them completed their task.

A little guidance was necessary

"I MADE THIS CHAIR!"

Other organisations in attendance were the RAF Air-Sea Rescue, St John's Ambulance, Dept of Environment to name but a few.
