The Mayor of Harrow presented the prizes along with Kenny Ryan & Leo Pelligrini

As part of Carillion's on-going collaboration with local schools the Harrow Schools site opened their doors to the neighbours on the 26th May.

It was a very hot day & cakes, biscuits & cool drinks were available for the visitors. Several neighbours came along to view the site from the upstairs meeting room of the site office. A group of teachers from the school originally on the site came along, as did a former pupil of the school who was very excited at what he saw & kept everyone entertained with his enthusiasm.

The Mayor and Mayoress came along & spent over an hour looking at the plans with Kenny Ryan (Project Manager) and talking to residents.

On 27th May the Mayor attended Little Cedars school which is opposite the site to present the prizes for the "Building Sites Are Not Playgrounds" site sign competition which was set back in March of this year. Each winner received a certificate, a Carillion baseball cap & tee shirt.
