The Mulberry Centre, Cancer Care Centre for everyone

As part of Carillion's ongoing support for the Mulberry Centre, Wendy Thomas presents a cheque to the Centre

Business Benefits

Improving community relations

Positive Employee involvement

Raising the profile of Carillion in the wider community

Raising money for a worthwhile cause

The collection box that was on the reception desk at Westlink House, Brentford since March raised £80-70

Over the last three years Wendy Thomas has been raising money for the Mulberry Centre by selling books & other items from her "shop" in the switchboard room of Westlink House, Brentford.

From small beginnings, Wendy's shop has grown & grown & a total of £2250 has been raised so far, the majority of it going to the Mulberry Centre. Also on sale in the shop are Mulberry Centre Christmas cards & other merchandise.

The Mulberry Centre is a purpose built centre in the middle of the West Middlesex Hospital grounds. It has recently taken on charitable status in it's own right.

The centre is a haven of peace for those suffering from cancer & the effects of treatment & also for those caring for their relatives & friends who are affected.

It has an extensive reference library, some relaxing treatment rooms, "quiet rooms", a small hall where different classes are held & a very pretty garden which was originally landscaped by Carillion Building.

The Mulberry Centre is open to all who wish to visit, there is no post code restriction & their telephone number is 020 8321 6300 if anyone wishes to contact them. You can also visit their website (address shown below) for further information
